New Feature: Create New Book -> Co-Authors

In a collaborative environment, a book, article, or any other written work is quite often created by more than one author. Therefore, we need to be able to attribute the work to more than one author, and be able to change / add co-authors as the work evolves. Hence, the creation of a new book needs to allow for multiple authors during the book creation, as well as later as the book is being edited.

Below is the straw-man frame for the Co-Authors during the book creation. A similar feature must be added in the Edit->Settings section of the book editing process to allow the creator to add/edit/remove co-authors.
